Chair Exercises

Use a sturdy chair

Choose a chair that does not roll. Put both feet on the floor if you can. Hold the chair if you need to. A few repetitions are enough, and one is enough.

Stop if something hurts, makes you dizzy, or does not fit a limit from your clinician. This is education, not a personal exercise plan.

- Seated march: lift one foot, then the other, only as high as is comfortable.
- Sit to stand: lean forward a little and stand slowly, using your hands. If standing is not for today, press your palms together and relax.
- Seated reach: reach one arm forward or up, then the other.
- Heel lifts: keep the toes down and lift the heels, or skip this and point and flex the feet.
- Towel pull: hold a towel in both hands and pull gently apart. Skip it if a clinician limited arm movement.

Safety

Stop for pain or if you feel unsteady. These ideas are not a fall-prevention prescription and not a strength score.

Educational only. lifeZoi does not diagnose, treat, or promise a result.
It does not promise a longer life.
Read it in lifeZoi: /library/guides/chair-exercises