Understanding Food Labels

Read the serving before the number

The Nutrition Facts label is written for one serving. If you eat more than that serving, you get more of what is listed. lifeZoi does not turn the label into a personal score.

Four lines worth a look

You do not have to study every line. These four answer common questions.

- Added Sugars: sugar put in during making
- Dietary fiber: use it when you are comparing plant foods, and remember brands differ
- Sodium: useful if you are choosing between two packaged foods
- Ingredient list: items are listed by weight, so the first item is the largest

The Daily Value column

The right-hand column compares one serving with a reference diet. It is not a grade for you. Another package can use a different serving and look different for that reason alone.
Food Intelligence and the Nutrition sugar section go further. This page is the pocket version.

Educational only. lifeZoi does not diagnose, treat, or promise a result.
It does not promise a longer life.
Read it in lifeZoi: /library/guides/food-labels